Summer vacation is coming up, so TDMonthly Magazine interviewed retailers to find out which travel toys and games will bring the biggest sales this season. Travel games and magnetic toys were the most popular options.

Patti Tepper-Rasmussen, owner of Learning Tree Toys, Games & Books, Inc. in Oklahoma City, Okla., told TDmonthly in an April 2013 survey that Fractiles are one of the store's best-selling travel products. "These 96 brilliantly colored, flexible magnetic tiles come with a sturdy 8" by 8" black textured steel activity board, color-illustrated instructional material, and a double-record album-style package to store the board and tiles. The diamond-shaped tiles are used to create everything from snowflakes and starbursts to a bouquet of flowers and swarm of fireflies. The game has won a Parents' Choice Award for play and educational value, quality and design. It is made in the USA."
